Indore is going on the path of becoming biggest hub for Logistics and supply chain as being in the center of India it gives connectivity to many other states. Pithampur, the dry port of India is also nearby which is connected to major ports of India through road and rail transport. This is an opportunity for the job seekers to equip themselves with Practical knowledge in the related field. Logistics starts from the procurement of raw materials to the delivery of products to end user. The students must explore the field and practice it from the lower level to upper from the procurement to delivery. My best wishes for the students who visited our Company to explore their knowledge and to the faculty who is trying and giving her efforts to develop their skills.
